Cancellation & Refund Policy

Once an event is fully delivered or executed (including but not limited to conference, technical session, competition, workshop, or any part of the event as advertised), no refunds or credits will be provided under any circumstances, even if the sponsor chooses not to utilize certain elements of their sponsorship package or does not attend the event.

Force Majeure

In the case of an event being canceled in its entirety due to force majeure (such as natural disasters, pandemics, government restrictions), the organizer will work with the sponsor to either reschedule the sponsorship benefits for a future event or offer partial credit where applicable. However, if the event proceeds in any form (physical, virtual, or hybrid), no refund will be issued once the event is delivered.

Usage of Sponsorship Rights

It is the responsibility of the sponsor to make timely arrangements to utilize the sponsorship entitlements (such as speaking slots, exhibition tables, branding opportunities, delegate passes, etc.). Failure to do so will not warrant a refund or credit.

Alterations

The organizer reserves the right to make changes to the event program, speakers, venue, format (physical/virtual/hybrid), or schedule. Such changes do not affect the sponsor's financial obligation and do not entitle the sponsor to a refund.
